Dear Provider:

Revolutionize DMDD aims to improve the lives of children and adolescents who are affected by Disruptive Mood Dysregulation Disorder (DMDD). We offer resources and recommendations to families and medical providers surrounding a brain-based treatment approach (formally known amongst the DMDD community as “Matthews Protocol”, nicknamed after Dr. Dan Matthews, who spent decades researching causes and treatment approaches to severe explosive aggressive disorders in children and adolescents).

We also provide a comprehensive philosophy of behavioral care resources for educators and therapists, some originated by the late Dr. Larry Fisher.

We have witnessed firsthand the positive impacts of both, and this approach has since been proven to be effective for treating DMDD, as well as other disorders, and we are proud to collaborate with providers and community members to further its implementation.

We envision a world where the standard of care to treat all children with DMDD is directed at the root cause of their symptoms. By harnessing the extraordinary efforts of the warriors within the DMDD community, as well as the unwavering support of individuals who share in and advocate for our mission, numerous children will be afforded an improved future, while families can commence the process of healing from the devastation they have endured.
